HONESTA

The Honesta tableware is an ode to natural, red-baking clay. The special thing about this type of clay is that it contains a significant amount of grog, baked clay that has been finely ground and which gives its typical coarse texture. On the inside, all objects are finished with glaze, for hygienic reasons. On some items, you can still see the remnants of the turning process, the so-called 'scraps'. The artisanal designer, Alex Gabriëls, who pays much attention to curves and proportions in her work, likes to add an extra twist to simple basic forms. "That could be a handle or a rim that takes on a different shape when turning."

"My work doesn't belong in a cupboard, but on a shelf."

ANN
VAN HOEY

TABLEWARE

A + A - From the craftsmanship and solid organisation of Den Ateljee and Ann's quirky design emerges a collection of three stoneware bowls, in different sizes and colours. The apposite name of the collection, A+A, or Ann + Ateljee, was the most logical name imaginable for a wonderful product that would set the seal on this partnership.

Enchanting Geometry - Captures the dialogue between different geometrical shapes, which results into elegance and purity. The implementation of the plates in superior bone china porcelain, provides a surprising luminance and contributes to the finesse and refining of the gastronomic experience.

TAKE TIME

Completely averse to trends, master chefs Kristof and Stefan Boxy always take the less obvious path. This is no different for Take Time, the tableware line that they have created together with Serax. Elegant porcelain tableware, extraordinary cutlery and glasses that hark back to the stately hotels of yesteryear. Take Time seasons your dishes with a pinch of geniality, a dash of humour and a lot of elegance. With the Boxy twins' Take Time collection for Serax, every meal becomes a feast.

COLLAGE

The choice of material for the Collage teacups design fell on solid acacia wood. The insulating properties of this wood ensure that the filled cup never gets too hot to hold. The slightly greyed wood is finished with a matt, waterproof, and food-safe varnish. The horizontal seam in the middle of the cups emphasises the straightforward appearance of the design.

FRÉDÉRICK GAUTIER

LAT & URBANISTIC CERAMICS

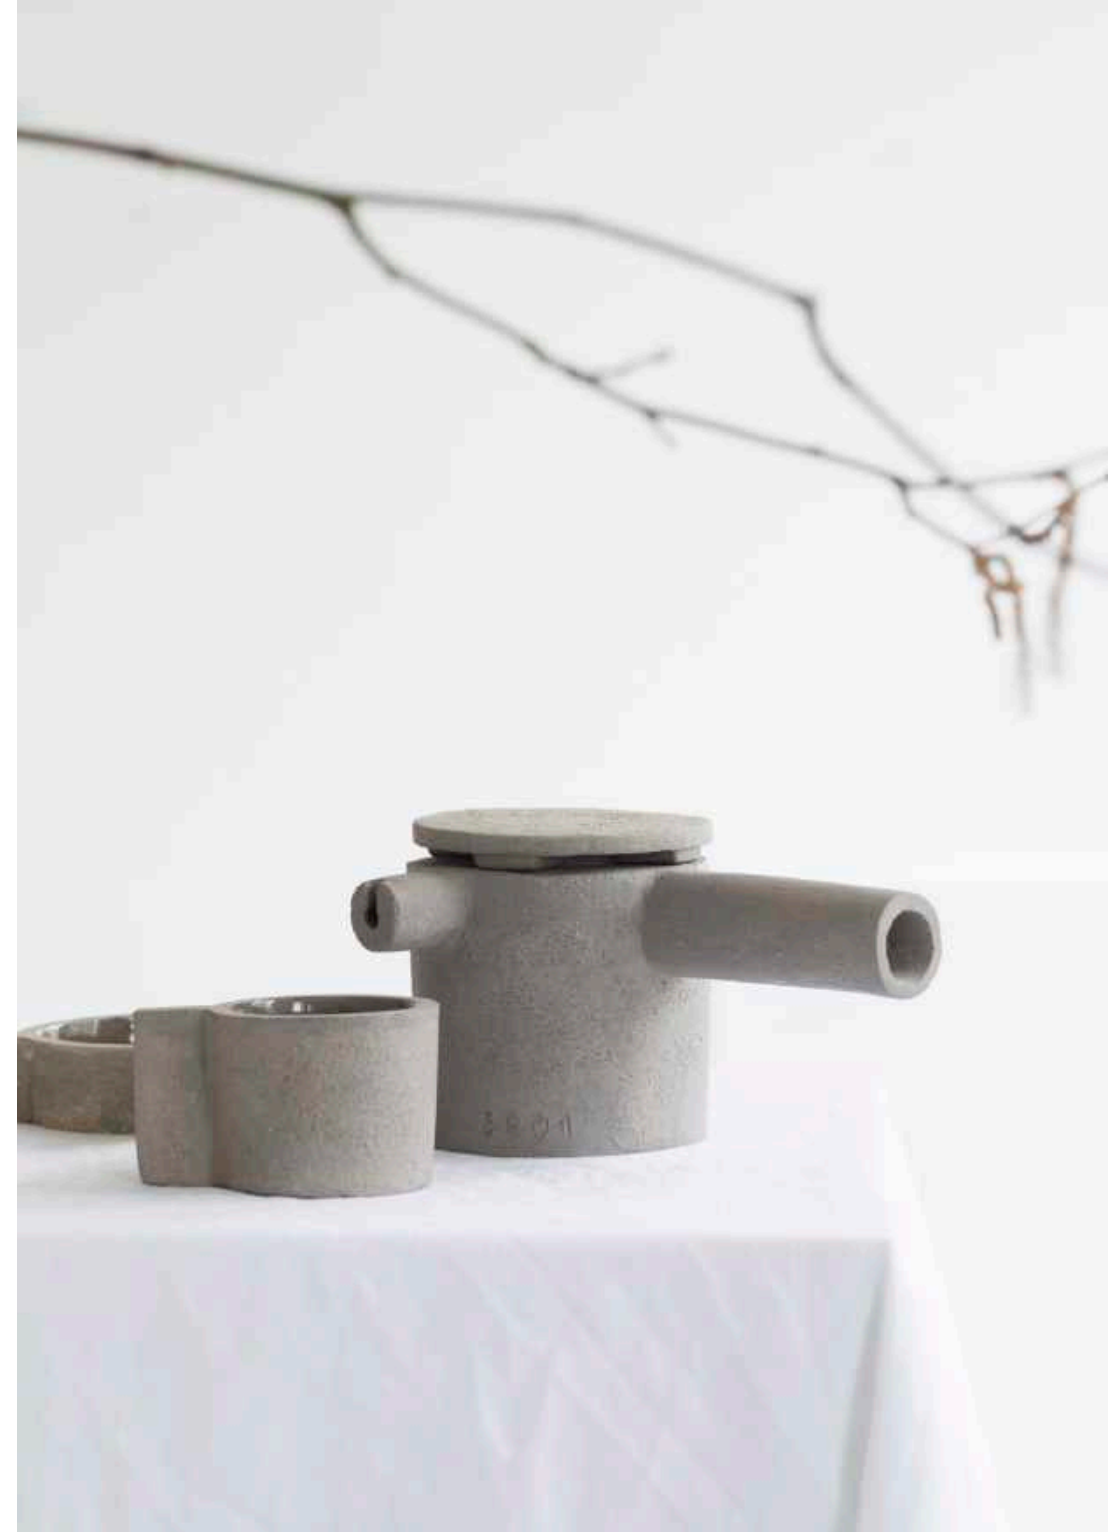

With a distinct preference for simple shapes with rough concrete aspects, the quirky French designer Frédéric Gautier pays a tribute to architecture with his 'Urbanistic Ceramics'. The 'micro-architecture' of the plates, cups and teapots by Frédéric Gautier for Serax resonates to the echo of masters such as Mies van der Rohe, Le Corbusier and Oscar Niemeyer. In a modernist perspective, the objects represent a kind of brutalism that emphasises the texture and imperfection of the material, rendering any form of embellishment redundant.

"Although I am immensely interested in Brutalism,
I am not charmed by really brutal objects.
I am mainly looking for simplicity and functionality."

- Frédéric Gautier

ISABELLE
DE BORCHGRAVE

BLUE IS THE NEW BLACK

For her Blue is the New Black tableware collection, the Brussels-based designer Isabelle de Borchgrave made moulds out of papier-mâché to ensure the uneven texture would be transferred to the porcelain plates, bowls, serving dishes, cups, and serving spoons. Aquamarine blue and black patterns are painted onto the white surfaces like a kind of calligraphy. Thus, Isabelle's Blue is the New Black tableware collection is reminiscent of the prestigious nineteenth-century Tournai porcelain.

LOUIS
DE LIMBURG

MONSIEUR CRUCHOT

Monsieur Cruchot instantly brings a smile to the face of the beholder. The carafe's recognisable shape and the sober use of colours speak for themselves: a classic in the making.

The ceramic carafe not only can be used to serve water, juice and other drinks, this gentleman also perfectly plays the part of a watering can or even a vase for a few flowers.

MARCEL WOLTERINCK

HEII

Over the course of three decades, Dutch designer Marcel Wolterinck has developed his own distinctive design style as an autodidact. His style can be defined as timeless minimalism, with nature as the main source of inspiration. The materials he uses are earthy – natural stone, marble, wood, leather, and even ray skin. And with simple lines and the repetition of materials, he creates a sense of peace. An empty canvas to complete to your own taste, unburdened by the years or by fashion trends. A great love for Japanese cuisine inspired Wolterinck to create his Heii collection for Serax. The trays, plates, bowls, coffee cups, glasses and cutlery embody the meaning of their Japanese name: simplicity and convenience. The collection is modular, the ratios are proportional, and all items are nicely attuned to one another.

"A space or object should never be intrusive, it must be subordinate to what the occupant or user wants."

- Marcel Wolterinck

MARTINE
KEIRSEBILCK

DUSK

The clay itself - this soft, supple, fire clay - inspired designer Martine Keirsebilck to design a series of plates, bowls and dishes. The result: DUSK. A serving set with a deep charcoal grey color. The color is unconventional and demands the user's creativity and inspiration.

PAOLA
NAVONE

TABLEWARE

Fish&Fish - With Fish&Fish, her tableware collection for Serax, the Italian designer Paola Navone draws admiring glances at once. Fish & Fish was inspired by the tastes and colours of her many travels and is based on the products made during the Great Depression in the 1930s. Accessible, solid and meticulously studied, this service collection will find its way to all possible tables. The platters, jars and bottles are made of pressed glass and available in Jadeite (green), Milk Glass (white) and Depression Glass (transparent).

Table Nomade - Paola Navone: "I have nomadic blood running through my veins, travelling is my second nature. With the curiosity of an anthropologist, I will go in search of everyday objects from different cultures and traditions. White, black, red, and indigo blue dominate the colour palette of the Table nomade collection for Serax. A collection of souvenirs, all of them telling their own story about their particular corner of the world."

ROGER VAN DAMME

DÉSIRÉE

"Although I am a fan of white tableware, I wanted to add a touch of sweetness to Désirée in the form of a warm pink hue," explains top pastry chef Roger Van Damme. "The golden edge has to accentuate that luxurious sense of patisserie, without becoming kitsch." Désirée fits in with Van Damme's big project for 2020: the opening of his new business of the same name, with which he lets a modern wind blow through Antwerp's icon, Désirée de Lille. "I didn't rely on existing tableware or styles but did my own thing completely, a fantastic experience."

PERFECT IMPERFECTION

This porcelain range is a symbol of innovation in several ways. It is the first time a collection is produced in which imperfection, defectiveness and coincidence are given the chance to play their part during the production process.

Hence the name, the Perfect Imperfection. The collection is modular, the ratios are proportional, and all items are nicely attuned to one another.

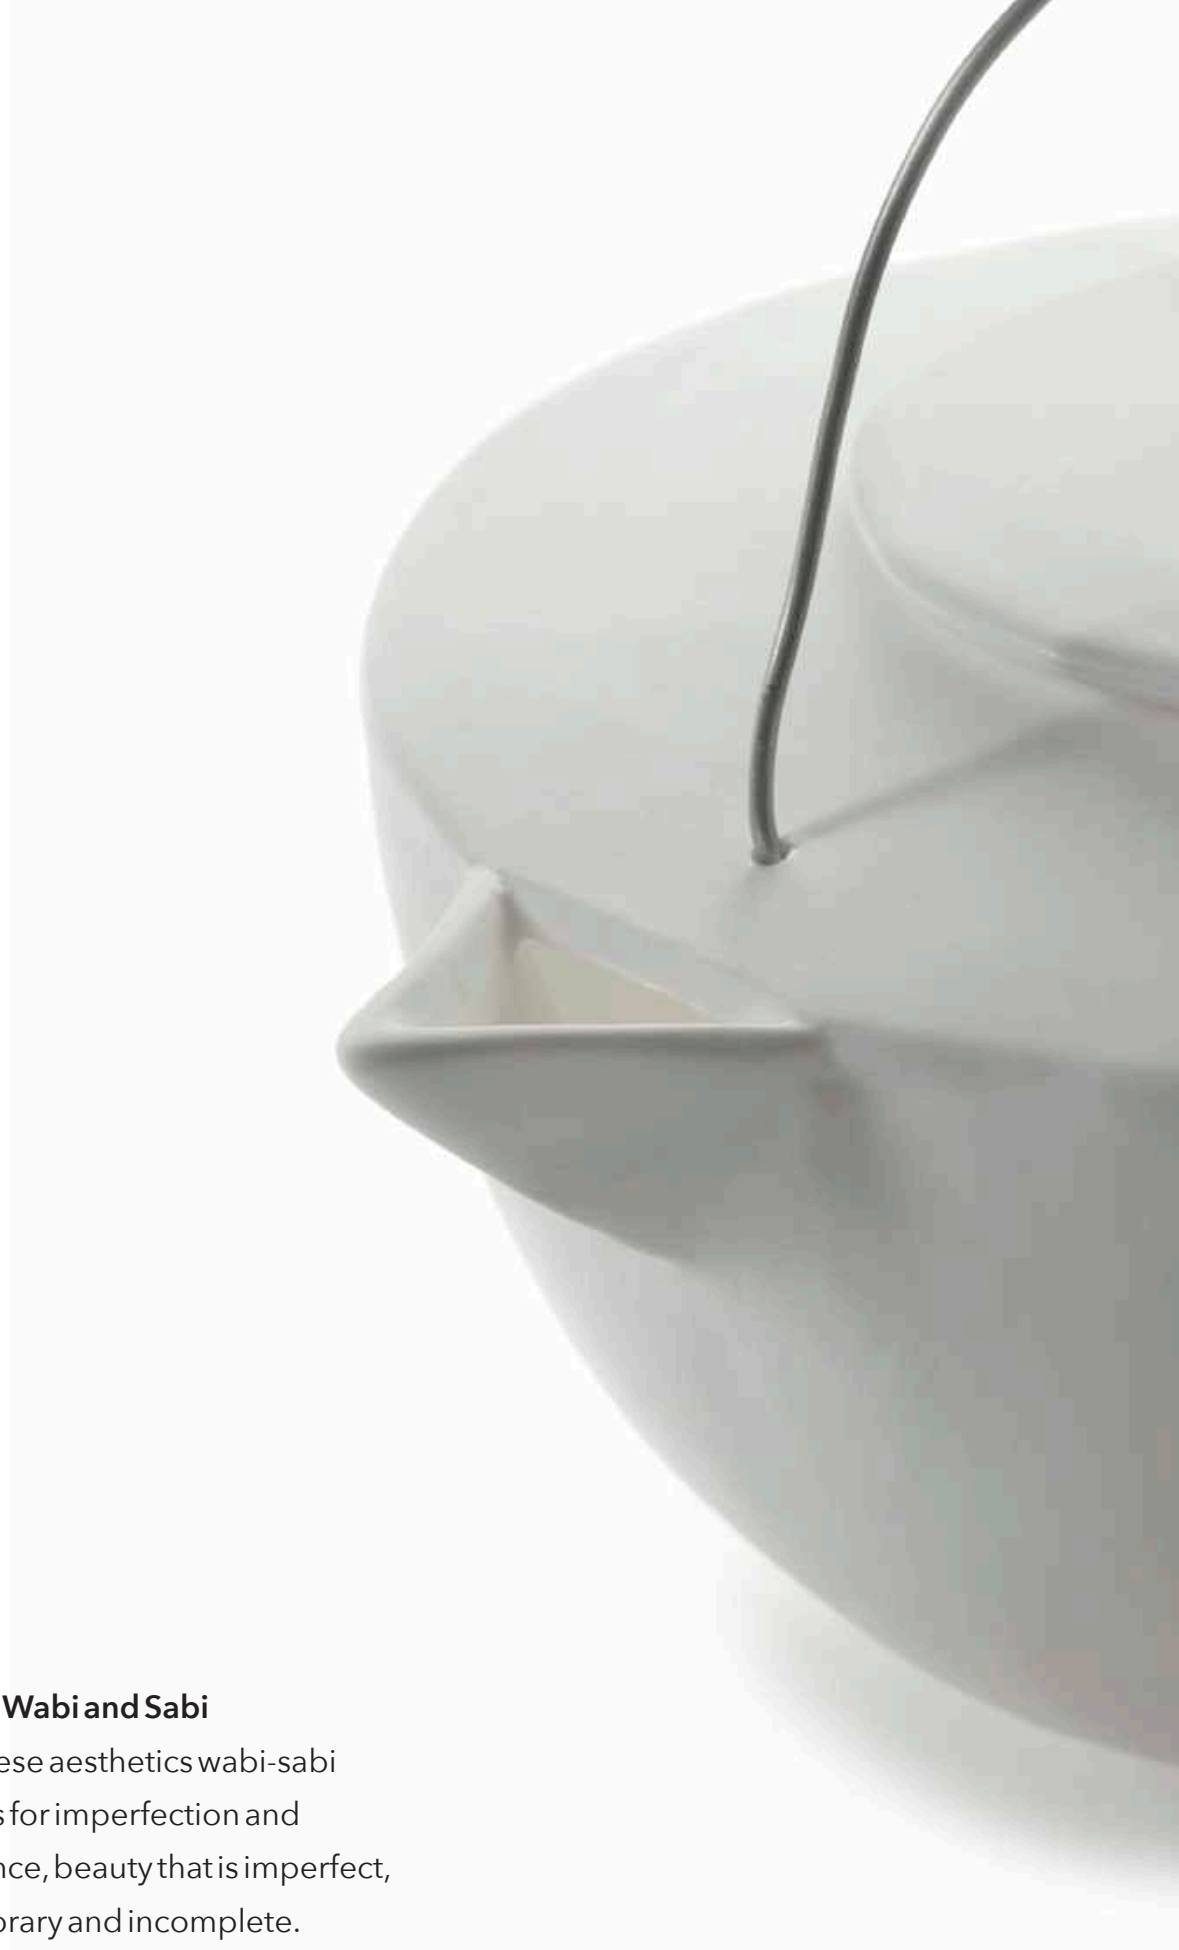

Wabi and Sabi

In Japanese aesthetics wabi-sabi stands for imperfection and impermanence, beauty that is imperfect, temporary and incomplete.

STUDIO SIMPLE

DUNES

The marriage between Serax and Studio Simple is of the long and very successful kind. Ann Vereecken and Jeroen Worst possess the gift of highlighting the beauty of everyday, almost obvious objects, to add something special to simple things.

The list of designs they are adding to their Serax portfolio this year is far from spectacular, but this is precisely what makes them so special - if only because there is a very sustainable idea behind rediscovering the simple things in life.
